Summary

Hi, I'm Riddhi. I build things that scale and lately, things that think. I spent 3+ years as a Software Engineer at Optum (UnitedHealth Group), where I migrated legacy monoliths to Kubernetes-orchestrated microservices, hardened data security pipelines protecting millions of HIPAA records, and automated CI/CD workflows across 8 global engineering teams. Now at NYU pursuing my Master's in Computer Science, I've kept up on the hackathon circuit since my undergrad days at Vellore Institute of Technology. Five wins to date, including 2nd of 500+ teams at AWS Financial AI Hack and 1st at Cross-Campus Base44 Hackathon. I'm a fast learner. I pick up new languages, frameworks, and domains by shipping along with reading, and I move easily between maintaining established systems and building new ones from scratch. I care about clean code, measurable impact, and systems that hold up in production. github.com/riddhixraina - see what I'm building. Open to SWE & AI/ML Engineering internships. If you're working on hard problems, let's connect.
